Copperhead Tactics

The miserable subterfuges of some unscrupulous men to defeat the Union party are so absurd as scarcely to require refutation yet there are occasional instances which these first class disciples of the father of lies must be noticed, in order to prevent at least the partial accomplishment of their treasonable objects. Efforts have been made by them to array every Irish born citizen and every Roman Catholic against the Administration of President Lincoln, and in fact against everybody whom these Jeff Davis admirers denounce as "Abolition Yankees," in the declaration that the tendencies of our Government in these times of peril are to annihilate Romanism and Roman Catholics. Were such the object of the dominant power, it is hardly probable that the immigration of countless thousands from Ireland would receive the encouragement from official sources which to day threatens to embroil us in a charge of foreign enlistments It is a poor compliment to the intelligence of those sturdy supporters of the Administration who stand at the head of the Roman Catholic Church and Press of the Northern States It is a libel upon the religious character and patriotic devotion of the late Archbishop Hughes, which none but a pretender and enemy to the Romish Church would dare utter It is an insult to the memory of the legion of loyal Irish men whose irresistible courage has gained us more than one victory, and whose life blood is swallowed up by the battle worn sod, in defense of their adopted country. A base-born traitor in this State—formerly a citizen of New York—whom Providence favored with a claim to Irish patronage by the accident of an "O" and an apostrophe prefixed to his name, endeavors to stir up a clannish hatred in the breasts of loyal Irishmen, by falsely insinuating that none but Roman Catholics are ever shot for the crime of desertion! In the ecstatic malignity of his crazed brain, he regards loyalty to the Government as a heinous offense, and represents the main objects of the Union party to be the wiping out of the Romish Church in America! No Irishman of good sense will believe such twaddle. The thousands of loyal Irishmen who stand in the ranks of the Union army give the lie to it, and spurn the implied charge of moral obliquity on account of which they should be exempt from the penalty attaching to the foul crime of desertion No religious, political or social privilege accorded to another sect, is denied them, and their institutions are encouraged and fostered in every section of our country He who strives to alienate the sympathies of Irishmen or any other class of adopted citizens from the Administration of the Government, is an enemy to the best interests of those upon whose prejudices he seeks to operate in furtherance of his nefarious business. No one of alien birth, from whatever clime or country, is a citizen of the United States who has not sworn to support the Government—not any particular administration or party sect, but the absolute constitutionally governing power—of the United States He who has taken the oath, and is now arrayed against the Government, is guilty, not only of treason but of perjury No loyal Roman Catholic can believe for a moment the fiendish fabrications of those who by excitement strive to make them rebel, and thus cover their own souls with the damning stain of perjury To show how the "Yankee Abolition Government hates Irishmen," we copy the following article from the National Republican, a paper published at our National Capital

THE IRISH CADET AT WEST POINT —Mr Dawes, M C, representing one of the western districts in Massachusetts, appointed successively three young persons to scholarships in the West Point Military Academy and each successively was turned out for lack of brains sufficient to carry on the course of studies pursued in that institution These appointments had been made under a pressure of influential recommendations one of them was recommended by Gen Scott himself, and dismissed within a year

Mr Dawes was almost in despair The reputation of his district was being damaged by the failure of the young men sent by him to the great military school of the country He determined to close his ear to applicants and become an applicant him elf He resolved if he could find a boy, high or low, who could stand first at West Point he would appoint him cadet Accidentally the name of an Irish lad, who had been making astonishing strides in learning at the public schools in his district, reached him and he made a journey to the boy's house, found him at work with his father in the field, and besought the parent to allow his son to go to West Point This was reversing the usual order of things with an emphasis Instead of being bored by the friends of some youth of wealth or influential connections who besought him to pension their protege in the institution which had restored so many scions of influential families here was a member of Congress begging an Irish farmer to allow his son to leave his potato patch and take his education from the most thorough academy in the country at a salary of thirty dollars a month

Mr Dawes had no little trouble in persuading the father to part with his son or at least in explaining to him the advantages to be gained He succeeded however, and has now the satisfaction of hearing that the young son of Erin stands [illegible] of his class in mathematics [illegible] language [illegible] would [illegible] a lot [illegible] after the [illegible] to [illegible] Irish brogue created quite a sensation but he was without doubt, an honor to his district, to Mr Dawes and to the system of selecting pupils with some regard to their brains His present [illegible] creditable to Massachusetts [illegible] primary education was [illegible] [illegible] democratic government

MODERN "DEMOCRACY" SKETCHED — A "Veteran Observer," in an article recently published in the New York Times pays his little attention to the copperheads in the following manner

Who are arraying the squadrons of the opposition to the Administration? The rebels in Richmond and the copperheads at home Who say we are living under a tyrant and an usurper? The rebels Who say the Constitution is violated and the rights of the people usurped? The Democratic press Who supported a twice convicted convict for Governor of Ohio? Who figured in the New York riots? Who got up the Illinois insurrection? The people of the United States are not ignorant of these things They were not done in a corner They cannot be put aside by the braying of asses or the hissing of snakes This nation has made up its mind, knowingly and deliberately, that traitors, whether with or without arms, shall be suppressed It is a pity to mingle Gen McClellan, whose intentions and dispositions are no doubt good in this foul stream of silly and malignant opposition to the Government of the country, but it will be done The Seymour and Wood factions—Sam Cox, Allen, et id omne genus, will probably succeed in setting aside the Woods and the Vallandighams, but it is in vain—the quarrel is not worth the time and words it will cost

DOWN THE COAST —A gang of Indians who belonged up in the Coast Reservation, have for a long time infested the settlements about Coos Bay At the request of citizens there, Sub-Agent, Amos Harvey went down last fall to arrest them and take them back to the Agency, but having no force at his command the Indians avoided or eluded him, and he was compelled to leave them Last May he again went down for that purpose accompanied by a detachment of soldiers under Lieut Herzer, and succeeded by the assistance of the military in taking back forty six of the vagabonds to the Alsea Agency We now learn, by letter from Empire city that Judge Stratton, at the June term of the Circuit Court for Coos county, granted writs of habeas corpus upon the application of one — Cozans, requiring the Agent and Lieutenant to bring the Indians back to Coos county, and show cause why they are restrained of their liberty The effect of this (if it is true) will be, we suppose to turn the Indians loose upon the community again We have no information as to the grounds upon which the action of the court is based —Statesman

GOLD IN THE FOOTHILLS —A prospecting party left Port Angelos last week They ascended White Creek a small stream which puts into Port Angelos harbor, near the Indian village, and prospected the bank of the stream in many places, finding several bars, from which an average prospect of five cents to the pan was obtained White Creek is quite a large mountain stream, and is fed by melting snows from the coast range of mountains Specimens of quartz from another small stream which empties into Port Angelos harbor were recently assayed here and found to contain both gold and silver —Vict Chronicle, June 2d

THE PORTLAND TRADE —The discontinuance of the steamer George S Wright's trips to Portland has arisen not from any want of encouragement either in the number of the passengers or amount of freight offering, but through a difference between the captain and charterer We trust that no merely personal obstacle will be allowed long to interfere with a trade which has already proved itself to be highly remunerative to all parties engaged in it, and which promises to extend shortly to a magnitude which would exert a most beneficial influence on this Colony. — Victoria Chronicle.

THE WAYS OF TRADE. — The Garibaldi, from New York, brought out about 200 cases of spirits of turpentine—the first imported here in over a year The same parcel had previously been sent out here from New York, was then returned home and reshipped back again, and now the owner has decided to send it to New York again on the same ship, if she will convey it, otherwise on the fast sailing clipper ship Panama. Turpentine from California and Oregon, and excessive stocks of old North Carolina, have killed this market for "turps"—Bulletin.

We learn that the wife of Mr Saml Headrick, of this place, met with a severe accident last Friday afternoon, on Howell Prairie She was riding alone in a buggy, and rain coming on, she raised an umbrella, at which the horse took fright and ran off at a furious rate The buggy coming in contact with a stump, Mrs. H was thrown out with great violence, the wheel striking her head, and inflicting a dangerous wound Her arm caught in the reins, and she was dragged some distance, bruising her body in a shocking manner She was taken up insensible —Statesman

A little drummer boy, named Orion P. Howe, of the Fifty-fifth Illinois regiment, who was wounded at Vicksburg while carrying ammunition has been "adopted" by the Board of trade of Chicago, and President Lincoln, recognizing his merits and bravery, has given him a vacancy at the Naval School at Newport.

RECRUITS FOR HOME SERVICE — Thirteen recruits for Capt Olney's Canyon City Road Guard leave Portland this morning for the Dalles, and will, as near as we can learn, fill up the number required The Oregon Steam Navigation Company have generously offered to provide them a free passage through on their boats

THE FREMONT GUN —The howitzer which Fremont abandoned in the mountains, in his early explorations, was lately used in Virginia City (N. T.) in sending forth congratulations on the nomination of Lincoln and Johnson

A DISAPPOINTED COPPERHEAD —The Oregon Statesman says it is reported that B F Dowell, Union, has been elected Prosecuting Attorney of the 1st District, over the rebel P'Vault, contrary to the latter's expectations

The Presbytery of Oregon convenes to morrow evening, at the Presbyterian church, at Corvallis A sermon will be preached by the Moderator, Rev P S Caffrey of this city

A Masonic and Odd Fellows' Hall is about to be erected in San Jose, California at a cost of $30,000 It will be three stories high

Linn county contributed on election day to the Sanitary Fund, $451 37 in coin and $108 in legal tender notes

VOTE OF COOS COUNTY —For Congress Henderson, [illegible] Kelly, [illegible] Attorney [illegible] [illegible] Judge [illegible] State [illegible] Senators Watson 67 [illegible] Hinsdale 64, Gurney 17, Representatives Heckler, 67, Fahey 19 The whole Union ticket is elected

NEW YORK June 14—Havana advices to the 4th say dates from the City of Mexico May 26th, state that Maximilian arrived at Vera Cruz May 28th having touched at Madeira and Martinique At the latter place he liberated and carried with him, four prisoners condemned to hard labor by Torey [illegible] also liberated eight others and paid their passage to Vera Cruz He distributed 2000 francs among the remainder whose cases he promised the attend to immediately upon his arrival in Mexico

WASHINGTON, June 1 —The Bill repealing the Fugitive Slave Law passed the House by a vote of 92 to 45—having previously passed the Senate The Gold bill also passed the House by a vote of 76 to 62 It went to the Senate with some amendments which will be probably considered to morrow

NEW YORK June 15 —The Times special correspondent at Staunton, says We met the enemy in force 15 miles north of this place We whipped them thoroughly The rebels were commanded by Jones and Imboden. The former was killed We pursued them all day with little resistance although the place was strongly fortified and all the males were ordered out to defend the place

We captured six guns and about a thousand prisoners, and many hundred thousand dollars worth of stores Also destroyed a large amount of railroad property Our loss is not large Thorburn's brigade suffered most.

The enemy is retreating toward Blue ridge The retreat is a complete stampede We don't stop, but move to another important point "

WASHINGTON—Midnight—June 13 —Dispatches have arrived from the Army at the Potomac to 8 o'clock this morning Movements at that time were in successful progress

No reports to-day from Sherman

The following dispatch was received from General Burbridge, commanding in Kentucky

I attacked Morgan at Cynthiana at daylight yesterday morning and after an hour's hard fighting completely routed him, killing 300 and wounded nearly as many capturing nearly 400. We recaptured nearly 100 of Gen Hobson's command and over 1,000 horses Our loss in killed and wounded, is about 150 Morgan's scattered forces fly in all directions They threw away their arms, being entirely without ammunition They are wholly demoralized

Dispatches from Gen Butler dated 9 o'clock this morning indicates no change there

No further intelligence from Hunter

(Signed) STANTON.

CAIRO, June 11 —Memphis paper of the 10th give further particulars of the battle at Columbia, Arkansas A force under A J Smith landed on the sixth at Sunny Side below the Bayou, took up the march early next day near Lake Chicot, keeping along the west bank of the Mississippi At 9 o'clock our advance met the enemy—two regiments—strongly posted on the opposite side of the Bayou emptying into the Lake After a short artillery duel the enemy fell back to a stronger position, an open field being between, two lines of batteries opened.

By that time Columbia and the places above were in flames Smith's forces were at once resting from a fight of a desperate character that day with Marmaduke in which the rebel forces with their battery were driven off with severe loss Marmaduke had taken shelter behind an impassable bayou where it was thought he would make a stand Smith had full possession of the field and the blockade of the river had been temporarily raised Our loss was about 30 killed and 70 wounded rebel loss 150

The Herald's correspondent says that Marmaduke's forces numbered 6000 mounted infantry and cavalry, besides three batteries The enemy were completely routed, thus opening the Mississippi to navigation Our forces being infantry could not pursue, and re-embarked on the 7th for Memphis

CAIRO, June 14 —A force of 3000 cavalry 5000 infantry and 12 pieces of artillery, under General Sturgis, was sent from Memphis on the first for the purpose of destroying the Mobile and Ohio railroad which had been repaired by the rebels as far north as Corinth It was supposed by Sherman and McPherson that nearly all the rebel forces which had been operating in Western Tennessee and Mississippi were sent to reinforce Johnston The sequel showed that this was a mistake, for at Guntown Miss on the 10th our forces fell in with the enemy in overwhelming numbers, and a terrible battle ensued, resulting in the discomfiture of our troops A large portion of our infantry were captured Owing to the horrible condition of the roads, most of our artillery was destroyed or abandoned Our retreating column was sharply pursued by the rebel cavalry to Contreville

The rebel infantry force is reported to be moving in the direction of Memphis They were at Ripley when last heard from

A train of 100 wagons belonging to Sturgis' expedition was partly burned, and the rest were captured

Polk and Forrest are reported to have been present during the fight.

Washburne, commanding our forces at Memphis, feels no apprehension for the safety of that place

CINCINNATI, June 14th —Reports received from Covington last night state that a party numbering five hundred, of Morgan's men who took the Augusta road, were overtaken and whipped yesterday near Claysville by Col Garrard Stragglers are being picked up all through the country

A special train from Cynthiana arrived last night bringing 100 wounded among them 20 rebels The wounded remaining at Cynthiana are being well cared for

Two Ohio regiments captured at Cynthiana were paroled at Claysville and arrived here last night

WASHINGTON June 1 —The movement of the Army of the Potomac to the south side of the [illegible] across the Chickahominy at [illegible] rivers is progressing far enough to permit publishing some general facts without danger of premature disclosure After several days preparation the move commenced on Sunday The eighteenth corps under Gen Smith, marched to White House, and embarked on transports to Bermuda Landing

Wright's corps and Burnside's corps moved to James bridge crossed the [illegible] and marched to Charles city on James river Hancock's corps and Warren's corps crossed the Chickahominy on a bridge and marched to Wilcox Landing James river

This river was to be crossed by the Army at Powhattan Point

A dispatch from Grant, dated Headquarters Wilcox Landing 10, Monday evening 13th, stated that our advance had reached that place and would commence crossing James river the day South [illegible] corps would commence arriving at City Point last night

No fighting reported during the movement except a little cavalry skirmishing.

Grant was at Bermuda Landing Tuesday the 14th at noon Dispatches from him [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] The enemy gave no signs [illegible] [illegible] Our [illegible] James river have been made with great celerity and so far without loss [illegible] accident

An unofficial dispatch [illegible] Gen Butler's head quarters the 14th [illegible] Smith's corps [illegible] [illegible]

NEW YORK, June [illegible] —The Herald's Washington dispatch dated [illegible] says There are rumors in town to day that [illegible] Gordonsville on the way to [illegible] and destroyed the Richmond and Lynchburg Railroad It is understood they will pay a visit to Charlottesville and accomplish all the damage possible to its roads and depots in pathway

Sheridan, and [illegible] large cavalry and artillery force, is full [illegible] any body he may fall in with It was suspected at the time Sheridan started that he would pass around the south side of Richmond and [illegible] communications with the city, but this part of the work has probably been entrusted to Kautz who has before been over that territory and is therefore familiar with the country

Since Sheridan's [illegible] has been [illegible] the importance of his movements are made apparent [illegible] Hunter's [illegible] will act vigilantly and effectively in the territory in which he is now engaged. His mission is [illegible] to be not only to capture Charlottesville and Lynchburg, but to complete and [illegible] connection with them and Gordonsville With Sheridan's assistance he may be enabled to penetrate still further into the country and effect the capture of Danville It is well known that this railroad leading to the rebel capital is now relied upon to the utmost for sources of supplies for the inhabitants of Richmond and Lee's army. If the railroad line leading to that place [illegible] western Virginia and [illegible] the rebels will be compelled [illegible] non combatants and [illegible] the [illegible]

The Herald [illegible] say [illegible] scouts from the front [illegible] Sheridan has not been heard from [illegible] supposed to have reached Charlottesville on his way to Lynchburg.

NEW YORK, June 14 —The Tribune's correspondent with Sherman [illegible] under date of June 11th says concentrated movement of a giant character was successfully accomplished to day by McPherson [illegible] commanding army of Tennessee and Hooker [illegible] [illegible] The nature of the movement [illegible] at present be known

We [illegible] in the [illegible] of a bitter struggle Forty eight hours may develop the plans of two cautious and determined [illegible] [illegible] on the annihilation of each others legions

WASHINGTON June 15 —A dispatch from Sherman's headquarters, dated [illegible] yesterday near Kenesaw [illegible] says that his lines are advancing from that place

Another unofficial dispatch dated 9 P M reports that Thomas had captured nearly a whole brigade of rebels

We have reports that the rebel General Polk was killed to day

Gen Sherman has made arrangements to repair Sturgis' disaster

He has placed Gen A J Smith in command, who will resume offensive operations immediately

(Signed) STANTON

CAPE RACE June 11 —The steamship Belgian from Liverpool June [illegible], has arrived The British Ministry were defeated in Commons on the 1st by [illegible] majority The Danish Conference met June 2d Nothing definite has yet been arrived at It would meet again June 10th

EMANCIPATION IN LOUISIANA —CAIRO, May 17 By the arrival of the steamer Henry Ames, we have New Orleans dates to the 12th The Constitutional Convention did a noble day's work on the 11th, Wednesday On Tuesday, an amendment to the third article of the report of the Committee on Emancipation was adopted, which prohibited the Legislature from ever passing any Act permitting free colored citizens to vote

As soon as the order of the day was called on Wednesday, George A Fosdick, in a few well chosen remarks exhibited the folly and inappropriateness of the amendment to which we have referred It was then moved to strike out the amendment and Article six itself, together with the fourth and and fifth articles of the report and this motion was carried by a large majority The report as amended, was then put on its final passage, and adopted by an overwhelming vote

The Act of Emancipation, as finally passed, contains two articles as follows

"We, the people of the State of Louisiana, in Convention assembled, hereby declare and ordain as follows

"SECTION 1 Slavery and involuntary servitude, except as punishment for crime whereof the party shall have been duly convicted, are hereby forever abolished and prohibited throughout the State.

SEC 2 The Legislature shall make no law recognizing the right of property in man "

The Delta of the 12th says, "We consider nothing could strike a surer death blow to the cause of Secession than such a course, taken by a powerful slave State "

A National salute was fired in honor of the passage of the Emancipation Ordinance by the Constitutional Convention

Retiring from the Practice of Medicine

A CARD.

DR L J CZAPKAY begs leave to announce to the public and particularly to his patrons on the Pacific Coast, that he is about to close his business, with the view of retiring for the present from the arduous labors of his profession

As it is his intention during the ensuing Fall to leave the United States, for the purpose of visiting Europe he will not receive any new patients after the first day of July, 1864 Those therefore who may desire his services will apply within a reasonable time Dr Czapkay desires to assure those who are now under his care that they will continue to receive all the attention which his obligations prescribe and their cases respectively demand Those who hold contracts guaranteeing a cure are hereby requested to report to Dr Czapkay before the first day of June, 1864, whether or not they are satisfied that a cure has been effected in their cases respectively All who do not thus report within the time specified will be regarded and treated as cured

In taking leave of his patients and the public, Dr. Czapkay desires to express his profound gratitude for the extraordinary patronage bestowed upon him, and the confidence reposed in his professional ability.

During his residence in California Dr Czapkay has treated successfully upwards of twenty five thousand patients which is the best guarantee that his course of treatment has been rewarded with a success at once personally gratifying and almost unprecedented in the annals of medicine

Any physician in good standing who may desire to purchase the interest of Dr Czapkay in his Institute, and the good will of his business, may make application and state proposals

THE APPROACHING SANITARY FAIR —The approaching Fair, to given in aid of the Sanitary Commission, by the Ladies' Aid Society of Portland, is already the subject of much comment and it is being freely discussed by all parties, wherever they may meet as to what each individual person shall contribute, to make it interesting, and beneficial to the object desired The suggestion is spreading through the towns of the State, and is being eagerly caught up by the noble and patriotic portion of community, and when the fall harvest comes country dames will whisper how dear the brave boys in the army are, and will at once join the city portion of this admirable Society, in rendering signal service to the care of the deserving heroes our battles This Fair is not to be regarded as a freak of the sex and although far from the Home Society may prove a better type of the original ones, than is expected, it is a matter of urgent necessity and we hope it will, as it certainly must be a very decided success

AMATEUR CONCERTS —On one or two occasions, heretofore it has been demonstrated that we have sufficient musical talent in our midst to delight an audience with perfect satisfaction, in a series of Amateur Concerts, and we have hoped that during the dull season, some such measures would be adopted, as a means of enlivening the community. We understand now that a concert is soon to be given by musical parties joining for the occasion in [illegible], as a benefit to the family of the [illegible] musician, Mr J P Denison At a meeting last evening, held for the purpose of a consideration of the subject, by the most prominent musical men of the city, it was decided that a concert should be given on Saturday evening, and arrangements will be immediately made for it.

PUBLIC MASONIC INSTALLATION —The officers elect of the Most Worshipful Grand Lodge of Masons for Oregon, will be publicly installed this afternoon, at the Methodist Church the exercises commencing at 2 o clock The members of the order will meet at the Grand Lodge Hall at 1 P M, and proceed in a body to the Church. A very interesting time is in anticipation. The following are the officers elect

J [illegible] McCraken Portland G M, A A Smith, [illegible] D G M A VanDusen, Astoria, S G W [illegible] Savage, Dalles, J G W, Geo A [illegible] Salem, G Secy, J E Hurford, Oregon City G T

A BUSY CORNER —The long advertisement of Mr A B Richardson, in another column, speaks of occurrences at a busy place The increase of business at his Auction Rooms, [illegible] season, has compelled him to [illegible] on to the premises which has [illegible] doubled the capacity for holding goods over last year's space, and yet he has his [illegible] more [illegible] fail to meet with the demand for ro[illegible] Mr Richardson says [illegible] advertising and his [illegible] To-day he will [illegible] off a handsome [illegible] carpets, &c, lately used by Capt [illegible] which is enumerated [illegible]

A SENSATION —Quite a sensation was created in the [illegible] the corner of Second and Taylor [illegible] on Monday evening, by the [illegible] raving woman, en dishabille [illegible] to escape from a h[illegible] [illegible] The known re[illegible] [illegible] locality, had a ten[illegible] furor, and the Marshal [illegible] exertions to ascertain the [illegible] trouble, when it was found to be a [illegible] derangement with a respectable [illegible] woman

LOOKING UP —For twenty-four hours preceding yesterday morning, the water in the Willamette [illegible] recently receded to leave two or three [illegible] open for business—although [illegible] situation, from [illegible] labor will be [illegible] back to the former [illegible] the planking has been disarranged, [illegible] wharf, and the carpenter's will find plenty to do, for a few days, in that quarter, when an opportunity is afforded

ANOTHER BOAT —The Marysville Appeal says the steamer Sacramento, built by Peter Donahue and William L. Youle, in 1861, and which ran on the Sacramento river the greater part of that year, has been sold to visit these waters We presume she is intended for an opposition boat to go into company with others which are expected from Victoria

THE LEVIATHAN —The British Colonist, in noticing the arrival of the steamer Leviathan, recently sold in this city to Gov Seymour, of New Westminster, says the sum ($2,300) was "rather a stiff price," but accounts for it by saying that "the Governor took a fancy to the saucy little craft" while in Portland, en route to British Columbia.

NEW RECRUITS —Thirteen men leave this city by the steamer Wilson G Hunt this morning that have been recruited for the four month's expedition on the Canyon City road. They will join the command, and be mustered into the service at the Dalles, under Captain Olney

AN OPPORTUNITY—Under this caption the Victoria papers say there would be ample employment at that port for two vessels in regular service, capable of carrying 200 tons between Victoria and Portland, "as soon as the latter is declared a port of entry" The opportunity is sought for British vessels

A CARGO OF FLOUR.—The cargo of the steamer Wilson G Hunt to-day, will consist almost entirely of flour, which is consigned to various portions of the mines The bulk of the cargo was transferred from the Oregon City steamer last evening.

CIRCUIT COURT —The day was consumed yesterday, in the trial of Charles and Lucy E Burkhart, and about four o'clock the jury retired In the course of a few hours a verdict of "guilty of assault" was rendered The penalty will be fixed this morning

MILITARY DRILL —Company C, Capt. Randall, of the 1st Regiment 2d Brigade, O. S M were out on parade last evening, under arms and made some very creditable manoeuvers The evening being so clear and pleasant afforded quite satisfactory recreation.

ARRESTING INDIANS —Several aborigines, who have escaped from their reservations, were arrested and locked up yesterday

The receipts for the Sanitary Fund, from the exhibition on Friday evening, were $223 in coin, and $11 in currency

In every age of the World, the professions have been slow to admit the value of new discoveries or the expediency of adopting them in practice. It is not to the legal profession that we look for reforms in jurisprudence, neither do we find the advocates of medical reform among physicians. Each deprecates whatever is found to innovate upon received opinions and established usage. Hence the opposition which medical men too often exhibit to the use of private remedies, whatever their acknowledged value, or great efficiency in the cure of disease. No medicine has ever done more for the relief of human suffering than Dr Osgood's India Cholagogue. The certainty with which it cures Fever and Ague and eradicates bile from the system, is acknowledged by all

Be particular to enquire for Dr Osgood's India Cholagogue, and take no other. Sold everywhere

Dr. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters.—The operation of this palatable remedy upon the stomach, liver and excretory organs is singularly soothing and conservative. It regulates, recruits and purifies them. Dyspepsia in all its forms yields to its control and invigorating properties and it is recommended to mothers enfeebled by the cares and duties of maternity as the safest and best tonic they can probably use. In all the crisis of female life it will be found eminently useful and elderly persons will derive much more benefit from it than from ordinary stimulants.—Sold by all Druggists and Dealers every where

The Midnight Arrest

AN EXILE'S STORY

I had spent some three months in the Austrian capital dividing my time [illegible] the scientific lectures [illegible] some curious experiments [illegible] of my own, and the [illegible] active service. It was the [illegible] intended stay in Vienna, and the next day was to see me on my way to Paris, and I [illegible] to be absent from my native country for an indefinite period. I had procured my passports, packed my trunks, [illegible] my bills, and engaged my passage, and was still up late to finish a letter to Colonel Sabardine, to ask his consent to my subsequent marriage with his daughter, whose own conditional promise had already been obtained, when I was disagreeably interrupted by a loud knocking at the street door. It was a period when crowned heads were filled with fearful suspicions of desperate plots for revolution and assassination, and innocent men were sometimes seized and hurried away in a mysterious manner beyond the reach and knowledge of their friends, perhaps never to return to the world of life, and of course I felt anxious to know the meaning of this midnight call. In a few moments I heard voices, but could not distinguish words; then the door seemed to be opened, and there were sounds as of armed men entering the dwelling with a heavy, measured tramp. There were several boarders in the house besides myself, and I remember wondering if either of these had been sent for by the authorities, and if so, for what cause and for what fate. I did not quit my room, to exhibit a prying curiosity and court an arrest on suspicion, but, blowing out my light, so as not to attract attention, remained there very quietly, listening to every sound.

Presently I heard heavy steps coming up the stairs, and along the corridor that ran past my room; and then, greatly to my surprise and alarm, the voice of the landlord saying, as he appeared to stop in front of my door:

"It is here, sir; but I humbly hope your honor don't think I know anything."

"Silence, fool!" interrupted a gruff, stern voice; "and if you know when you're well off, keep your prating tongue between your teeth!"

Then came a heavy knock upon my door, as if struck angrily with the hilt of a sword.

I sprang up and opened it. As the door swung back, I beheld a group of six persons—four soldiers, with fixed bayonets, and their pieces at a charge, directly in front of me—the pale and trembling landlord, only half dressed, with a light in his hand, standing a little behind them—and an officer, with a drawn sword, close by his side.

"Gustavus Kohlen!" said the officer, in the tone of a man calling a military roll.

"Your servant, sir!" returned I, bowing respectfully.

"In the name of the Emperor, we arrest you! Seize him, guards! and if he resists shoot him down!"

He had not done speaking, when two soldiers grasped me roughly, one on either side.

"I pray you, gentlemen, not to use violence!" said I, "for I assure you I will not make the least resistance."

"Take him back into his room, strip and search him!" commanded the officer.

This order was rudely obeyed—my coat and other garments being almost torn from my person. In one of my pockets was found a couple of letters, that I had just written and intended to post the next day; and, in another, a brace of loaded pistols that I had prepared to take with me on journey. These were immediately taken possession of by the officer—as also my watch, money and jewelry, including a seal ring on one of my fingers—and, in fact, everything about my person, my pockets being emptied for the purpose. He then took up the unfinished letter to Colonel Sabardine, read a few lines, frowned darkly, put it carefully away in a side pocket, rummaged my escritoire, selected some important pen drawings of my inventions, together with other valuable papers and letters, locked the desk and secured the key. He then ordered me to dress in haste, put two of his men in charge of the apartment, and hurried me down stairs and out into the street, where some eight or ten soldiers were keeping guard upon the house in front, with as many more stationed in the rear.

I was now, I must confess, fearfully alarmed—for though I knew myself innocent of any crime, even so much as in thought, yet it did not follow but that in some unguarded manner, I might either in speaking or writing have made use of some expression that could be so construed; and the fact that so many soldiers had been detailed to secure my arrest seemed to prove that the government regarded me as a person of dangerous consequence.

A close carriage now drove up to the door, into which I was ordered, and in which the officer and two soldiers took their seats; when away we were whirled, through long, silent streets, apparently deserted by all save the watchful sentries stationed here and there, whose peremptory challenges every now and then brought us to a dead halt.

"Might I humbly inquire of what I am accused?" I at length ventured to say to the officer having me in charge.

"Silence!" he commanded, in his most stern and unsympathizing tone. "When you are wanted to speak, you will be told!"

Not another word was uttered till the carriage had passed through a massive gateway, under a low, dark arch, and stopped in the court of a second Bastile. Here I was transferred to the charge of a low browed, black whiskered, sullen looking fellow, who, after a few words aside with the officer, took me roughly by the arm, and conducted me through a small side-door, in a long, damp, narrow, gloomy passage, that ran past a number of cells, and was dimly lighted by here and there an iron lamp depending from the stone ceiling. After advancing along this passage for perhaps a hundred feet, we came to an iron door, which the turnkey unlocked, and then lighting another iron lamp which stood in a niche to the right, he conducted me down a long flight of stone steps into a still more damp and gloomy passage. Passing along this for some fifty feet, the man stopped at a dungeon cell, numbered ninety five, and unlocking and throwing open an outer and inner door, motioned me to enter.

"May I be permitted to ask a single question?" I now ventured to say.

"No, I'm not here to be talked to by such as you!" was his gruff and surly reply. "In with you!" he added, with a threatening jerk of his arm; "I've no time to waste on ceremony!"

I obeyed, with a mental groan, feeling as if I was being entombed alive.

When the heavy doors were closed and locked upon me, I found myself in total darkness; and after standing for a few minutes, almost paralyzed with fear and dread, I commenced feeling around the damp, slimy walls to ascertain the size of the apartment and what it contained. This did not take me long, for the cell was only ten feet by six, and had nothing in it but some old, moist, mouldy straw, which had probably served the preceding occupant for a bed, and perhaps several others before him. I was not yet sufficiently exhausted to think of lying down upon this mass of filth—as I knew it must be, both by the sense of touch and smell—and so I felt out a spot near the door that seemed to be the least disagreeable of any, and, [illegible] myself down there, a la Turque, I gave myself up to gloomy reflections.

Here was I, in the very [illegible] of life—who for years had been a [illegible] student, always minding my own business, and never meddling with what did not concern me, and least of all with the political affairs of a jealous and suspicious government—and [illegible] immured in a damp dungeon, [illegible] hardly fit for the worst malefactor, and without being publicly accused of any crime, or even myself permitted to know the cause of my arrest. In those first lonely, solitary hours I endeavored to recall every act, incident and expression of my whole life that might, by any possibility, be construed into treason—but I could not think of one; I had been innocent, even in thought; and I was finally forced to the conclusion, that I was either the victim of a mistake, or of some secret enemy—most probably the former, as I could remember no one to whom I had given offence. And yet the result might be entirely independent of my innocence, and I be made to suffer, along with the guilty, for even the misfortune of being suspected—such being at that time the too general administration of Austrian justice.

I passed the night in the painful manner I have described, and only knew when another day had dawned by a sort of misty gray that stole into my wretched dungeon, and, as it were, made the darkness visible. Soon after the wicket of my cell was opened just wide enough for a human hand to thrust inside a small loaf of black bread and a jar of water, and then it closed, and I was left to an awful solitude for four-and-twenty hours. Throughout that long wretched day, I most of the time paced my cell, in an agony of mind impossible to portray; but when total darkness again shut in the scene, I threw myself down upon the damp, filthy flags, in a state of complete exhaustion, and fell into a troubled sleep, which lasted through the night, when my allowance of bread and water was again handed in, in the same manner as at first.

I need not dwell upon the days of my imprisonment, which were all so much alike that a description of one will serve for all. For weeks and months there was no change except in myself. I gradually became weak and emaciated, my hair and beard grew long and matted, my boots wore out, my garments got reduced to tatters, and my whole person became so covered with filth and vermin, that even the vilest tenants of a lazar-house might justifiably have shrunk from me in disgust. And what was worse still, I felt that my mind was perceptibly giving way under my cruel treatment, and I groaned and shuddered at the horrible thought of soon becoming a hopeless maniac. I tried to bear up like a man—tried to hope for the best—but the present was a disgusting mystery, and the future a wall of blackness with no ray of light, no salient point, upon which to fix the mind; and so I found that, from every effort to rise from the Slough of Despond, I only sunk back deeper in the mire. As the weather had been comparatively warm since my incarceration, I had not suffered from the cold, only from the dampness and filth; but this, I believed, would in time breed some disease, and I ardently prayed that some fatal malady might seize me and send my spirit into a better world.

At last one day, as I sat brooding over self destruction, half tempted to put an end to my misery, either by opening an artery with my teeth, beating my brains out against the walls, or declining to taste any more food, I heard the rattling of bolts and bars, saw the doors of my dungeon swing wide open, and heard a gruff voice say:

"Prisoner, come forth!"

I hastened to obey the welcome order, my poor heart taking a great bound with the hope of liberty.

The turnkey shrunk back from me with a shudder of disgust, and ordered me to follow him. He led me first to a bath and bade me cleanse myself. It took me two hours to make myself passably human. Then some coarse but clean garments were given me, and when I had put them on, I felt, in the wondrous change, as if I had been transformed from a beggar to a prince.

Two officers, in undress uniform, with side arms, now appeared and took charge of me. They conducted me up to the world of light, which at first so dazzled my weak eyes that I was obliged to shade them with my hand. Through long passages and corridors, up a second flight of stairs, and through different apartments, with heavy doors opening with a rattle and a creak and banging heavily behind us, they escorted me, without a word being spoken, till at last we entered a small room, divided by a high, carved railing, behind which sat three austere looking men, in powdered wigs and black gowns.

"Gustavus Kohlen," said the presiding judge, in a slow, measured tone, taking up a sealed document, "you are here to listen to your sentence."

"By order of his Imperial Majesty," he proceeded, "you are now and forever banished from this realm, and all your property made confiscate to the Crown! If again found within the Imperial dominions, the penalty is death! Officers, remove your prisoner, and see him safely escorted beyond the frontier!"

I humbly bowed to the tyrannical sentence, feeling more joy in my heart at the thought of regaining my freedom, even with the loss of my property, than words can ever make known.

In less than an hour I was leaving Vienna by government express, and day and night was I whirled onward, till I found myself a glorious freeman on the welcome soil of Bavaria, which for a time became my home.

Of what I was accused I never knew, nor by what right, except that of might, my property was taken from me. Fortunately I had no family to regret my loss, and though placed in a strange land, without money or friends, I had that within which assured me the future would not be one of gloom and despair. I wrote several letters to the fair girl to whom I had offered my hand, but never received any answer, nor do I now know whether she is living or dead.

From Bavaria I went to France, and in Paris I perfected my invention, for which I realized a large sum. With this I removed to the United States, of which glorious country I am proud to say I am now a citizen. I am now surrounded by a happy family, and while the starry banner floats above me, I have the assurance, thank God! that no tyrant's nod can consign me or mine to a living tomb!

Tom Hood cunningly defines public sentiment as "the average prejudice of mankind."

PERUVIAN SYRUP,

OR PROTECTED

Solution of Protoxide of Iron,

Has been used with Great Success in Curing

DYSPEPSIA,

Affections of the Liver, Dropsy, Neuralgia, Bronchitis and Consumptive Tendencies, Disordered State of the Blood, Female Complaints, Chronic Diarrhœa, Boils, Scurvy, the prostrating effects of Lead or Mercury.

GENERAL DEBILITY,

and all Diseases which require a

Tonic and Alterative Medicine.

THE PROOFS OF ITS EFFICACY are so numerous, so well [illegible] and of such peculiar character that sufferers cannot reasonably hesitate to receive the proffered aid.

The class of diseases for which the Syrup provides a cure is precisely that which has so often baffled the highest order of medical skill. The [illegible] and the safety and efficacy of the Syrup [illegible] incontrovertible.

From well-known Citizens of Boston.

The undersigned, having experienced the beneficial effects of the Peruvian Syrup, do not hesitate to recommend it to the attention of the public.

Certificate of Dr. Hayes.

It is well known that the medicinal effects of Protoxide of Iron is lost by even a very brief exposure to air, and that to maintain a solution of Protoxide of Iron without further oxidation, has been deemed impossible.

In the Peruvian Syrup this desirable point is attained by COMBINATION IN A WAY BEFORE UNKNOWN; and this solution may replace all the proto carbonates, citrates and tartrates of the Materia Medica. A. A. HAYES, M.D., Assayer to the State of Massachusetts.

IODINE WATER.

IODINE WATER IS THE MOST IMPORTANT DIScovery of modern chemistry, and it is impossible to over-estimate its influence as a remedial agent. Iodine has been considered the most useful article in Materia Medica, and many of the most scientific and practical chemists and physicians have investigated its effects upon the human system. It is to act upon the

HEART, LIVER, KIDNEYS, DIGESTIVE ORGANS AND GLANDULAR SYSTEM,

and to have great control over

SCROFULOUS AFFECTIONS.

Notwithstanding the zeal and ability which have been devoted to its investigation, it remained almost useless until Dr. Henry Anders, a physician and chemist of New York, after years of patient labor and experiment, discovered a chemical process which enabled him to dissolve without a solvent. This considered impossible by the scientific world, is attested by certificates of analysis from Dr. J. R. Chilton, of this city, and Prof. Booth, U. S. Mint, Philadelphia. The importance of this discovery was so highly appreciated by the Faculty that it was published in the Medical Journals and its use recommended to practitioners. (See American Medical Monthly, July 6, 1856, page 75.)

PURE IODINE IN PURE WATER

This valuable medicine is now available to the public for the cure of Scrofula in all its manifold forms, Consumption, Cancer, Heart, Liver and Kidney Diseases, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Nervous Affections, Dyspepsia, Bronchitis, etc.

AS A TONIC

Its operation is evinced by strengthening the digestive organs and increased nutrition of the body is the result of the employment of Iodine. The patient recovers flesh, strength and color; hitherto pale, relaxed and feeble, he becomes full, strong and florid.

Full directions accompany each bottle.

Sold by all Druggists. Price, $1 per bottle. Prepared by Dr. H. Anders & Co., Physicians and Chemists, New York.

HOSTETTER'S

STOMACH BITTERS.

THE OPERATION OF THIS PALATABLE REMEDY upon the stomach, liver and excretory organs is singularly soothing and conservative. It regulates, recruits and purifies them. Dyspepsia in all its forms yields to its controlling and invigorating properties.

Invigorate the System.

Vigorous digestion and pure bile produce nutritious blood and nutritious blood a healthy frame. Does the victim of dyspeptic stomach and a disordered liver desire to know how the digestion may be improved, the bile and other fluids of the body purified?

Dr. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters

Will accomplish this desirable revolution in the system, regulating the secretions and evacuations, giving tone to the animal juices which dissolve the food, strengthen every relaxed nerve, muscle and fibre, and brings the whole machinery of vitality into vigorous and healthful play.

Strengthen the System.

The best means of imparting vigor to the broken-down frame and shattered constitution which has yet been invented or discovered, is proffered to the feeble of both sexes and all ages in

Dr. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters.

Debility, from whatever cause arising, may be cured; strength, in whatever manner it may have been wasted, may be restored by the use of this powerful and healthy invigorant. For indigestion and all its painful effects, bodily and mental, they are a positive specific.

A word to the Aged.

In the decline of life the loss of vital force consequent upon physical decay can only be safely supplied by some vivifying preparation which recruits the strength and spirits without entailing the exhaustion which is always the final effect of ordinary stimulants. We tender to the aged

Dr. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters,

As an invigorant and restorative, immediate in its beneficial action and permanent in its effects. It tones the stomach, improves the appetite and acts like a charm upon the spirits.

For Females.

Thousands of ladies resort to this remedy for hysteria, fluttering of the heart, nervous headache, vertigo, general debility, and all peculiar disturbances and derangements to which as a sex they are subject. It cheers and enlightens the depressed mental powers, as well as strengthens the body, and its use is never followed by any reaction.

BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS. Purchase only of reliable dealers. Sold everywhere.

"CONSTITUTION WATER,"

THE ONLY REMEDY FOR DISEASES OF THE

BLADDER, KIDNEYS

Gravel, Dropsical Swellings,

GENITAL DEBILITY, ETC

THE ASTONISHING SUCCESS WHICH HAS ATtended this invaluable medicine renders it the most valuable one ever discovered. No language can convey an adequate idea of the immediate and almost miraculous change which it occasions in the debilitated and shattered system. In fact it stands unrivalled as a remedy for the permanent cure for the maladies above mentioned and also

DIABETES, IMPOTENCY,
LOSS OF MUSCULAR ENERGY,
PHYSICAL PROSTRATION,
INDIGESTION,
SEMINAL WEAKNESS,
GLEET, FLUOR ALBUS,

And in every disease any way connected with the disorders or decay of the PROCREATIVE FUNCTIONS. Persons about to marry, if conscious of any weakness, should take the

CONSTITUTION WATER,

Whether broken down by excess, weak by nature, or impaired by sickness, the unstrung and relaxed organization is at once rebraced, revivified and built up. Well may this celebrated medicine be called the

MEDICAL WONDER.

The stooping, trembling victim of depression and debility becomes a new man; he stands erect, he moves with a firm step, his mind, which was previously sunk in gloom or of an [illegible] apathy, becomes bright and active; and he goes forth regenerated, conscious of new vigor. The medicine reaches the CONSTITUTION itself and restores it to its normal condition.

IRRITATION OF THE NECK OF THE BLADDER, INFLAMMATION OF THE KIDNEYS AND
CATARRH OF THE BLADDER,
STRANGUARY AND BURNING OR PAINFUL URINATING,
CALCULUS, GRAVEL,
BRICK DUST DEPOSIT AND MUCOUS
OR MILKY DISCHARGES AFTER URINATING.

For these diseases it is truly a sovereign remedy, and too much cannot be said in its praise. A single dose has been known to relieve the most urgent symptoms. TRY IT in these cases, and you will ever give praise to

CONSTITUTION WATER.

Males or Females.

Are you troubled with that distressing pain in the small of the back and through your hips? CONSTITUTION WATER will relieve you like magic.
